

Title of Session: BlogsStreams

Moderator: Bee Dieu and Aaron Campbell

Title of File: 20050410blogstreams

Date: April 10, 2005

Room: Barbara Dieu's Office (Bee Hive)

BeeD joined the room.

BJB2 cheers. And here is the lady of the hour!

BeeD: I have just come back from the coast

JeanMC joined the room.

JeanMC: Salut tout le monde

BeeD: Bonjour Jean Michel

RitaZ joined the room.

BeeD hugs Rita

MichelleRS joined the room.

RitaZ hugs Bee and all

BeeD: Welcome Michelle

MichelleRS: Hello !

EmilyW joined the room.

BeeD: Hi

BeeD: Emily

EmilyW: Hi

EvgeniaM joined the room.

BeeD: Hi Evgenia, welcome to Blogstreams

SaroltaG joined the room.

GrahamS: Hi everyone! Sorry...I was away from the keyboard (making some tea)

EmilyW: yes we did

SaroltaG: Hello everybody.

RitaZ: trying to catch up with the backlog

RitaZ: hi!

JeanMC: Hola Rita, felicitaciones por tu artículo

BeeD: Sarolta! Long time no see!

LaurieGst12 joined the room.

RitaZ: gracias, Jean Michel!

BJB2: a reminder to everyone to go to the actions menu in the top right of this chat window and click on DETACH

EvgeniaM: the chat room became bigger, nice!

SaroltaG: Hi, Bee. Nice to see you all.

EvgeniaM: it seems I am the new here

BeeD: Evgenia and Michelle...would you like to introduce yourselves to the group? I believe it is your first time here

JeanMC: Rita, vaya analizando tu tiempo libre el 8 y/o 9 de junio a eso de las 20GMT y me cuentas

BeeD: . o O ((Evgenia read my thoughts))

FaithGst13 joined the room.

EvgeniaM: I prefer Eva, if you don't mind

RitaZ mira el calendario para junio

MichelleRS: Hello! I currently teach Special education (English grade 10). I am also working on my Master's Degree in Diverse Student Populations.

BeeD: Eva then...what brings you here and where are you from?

EvgeniaM: I am a Greek English teacher and I live in Tucson and do my masters in education

KristinW joined the room.

BeeD: Nice to meet you Eva and Michelle...I teach EFL at the Franco-Brazilian school in Sao Paulo, Brazil

RitaZ: si es el 9, jueves, puedo !!!!que es...??

AaronPC joined the room.

BeeD: Welcome Kristin

AaronPC: hi everyone

FaithGst13: Hi, everyone! I'm a student at Long Beach.

RitaZ: hi, Aaron!

BeeD: . o O (Aaron must be still in his pyjamas)

KristinW: I'm a student in Houston

JeanMC: Salut aaron

AaronPC wipes sleep from eyes and smiles

FaithGst13: Have you all been members of TI for a long time?

BeeD: Has the sun risen in Kyoto, Aaron?

KristinW: Who is our discussion leader?

AaronPC: Yes...it just came up and the birds are chirping.

RitaZ: yes, some of us have, Faith

EvgeniaM: I joined TI two days ago

RitaZ: welcome, Evgenia

BJB2: Bee and Aaron are the discussion leaders and we were just introducing ourselves

EvgeniaM: thanks to all

BeeD: The Blogstreams Salon is open every Sunday for an informal get together around blogging

BJB2 . o O (saying where we are located and what we teach or hope to teach)

FaithGst13: Wow, that's pretty recent, Evgenia. Do you know your way around TI? It seems pretty complicated to me.

BeeD: and once a month we invite a special guest to come and share a project or a different perspective with us

SaroltaG: Thanks for sharing the tapescript with us.

EvgeniaM: I know some about computers, so I am not completely lost, but some help is always welcome

SaroltaG: I enjoyed Aaron's talk a lot.

BeeD: The Blogstreams Salon is an extension to the 6-weekEvo workshop that took place in January-February

FaithGst13: Do you share your lesson plans ideas at the Blogstream Salon, or do you do it somewhere else?

BeeD: but it is open to all interested in the subject

AaronPC: Glad you liked it Sarolta

BeeD: During the informal meetings...the guests suggest a topic

AaronPC: I liked your recent post about spending more time with your children - a good reminder.

BeeD: Is there anything you would be particularly interested in? Have you all started blogging?

KristinW: I'm giving a presentation on the integration of technology in the English classroom this week...One of my topics is Blogs - - more specifically, blogs in the writing process..any ideas?

RitaZ: I am trying to catch up with the backlog.....,can I ask you a question, Bee?

BeeD: Sure Rita

RitaZ: I have already uploaded a sound file to a server, and have the chunk with the html code and address pointing to my sound file. I have tried uploading it to my template but cannot see it.

NathanL: I got my first flaming comment last night.. first one ever.

EmilyW: haven't blogged in awhile

BeeD: lol Nathan

SaroltaG: Sorry, Nathan, what do you mean by a flaming comment?

FaithGst13: Can someone explain to me what you mean when you say "blog"?

BeeD: Rita...is your sound file on an html page?

GrahamS: blog = weblog, Faith

KristinW: web log

NathanL: somebody didn't like what I wrote, sarolta, and they lit a fire under me to complain about it

AaronPC: Faith....a blog is a website that is updated regularly.....

RitaZ: yes, it's in a webpage I opened up in Yahoo, to get the hosting

AaronPC: with posts in a reverse chronological order.

BeeD: can you give me the address of the webpage Rita?

RitaZ: yes, Bee, a min

SaroltaG: Sorry to hear that, Nathan. I like your posts.

AaronPC: I'd like to read that Nathan....I have never been flamed.

RitaZ: <embed src="<http://es.geocities.com/RitaZeinstejer/trial.mp3>" width="128" height="20" type="audio/mpeg" volume="50" loop="false" controls="console" autostart="FALSE"></embed>

MichelleRS: Nathan, where do you post your blogs?

NathanL: hang on .. I'll get it

RitaZ: it's the whole chunk, Bee

GrahamS: Speaking of Yahoo, I was invited to Yahoo's new blogging+ service today (Yahoo360) - if anyone wants an invite, just say

EmilyW: what does everyone write about in their blogs?

BeeD: let me see if I can listen to the sound file first

AaronPC: I didn't know that Graham. Have you had a look yet?

NathanL: <http://www.durandus.com/blog/?p=96>

GrahamS: Just a quick one this afternoon - looks promising

BeeD: Funny Nathan...I could never access your durandus page

MichelleRS: Thanks, Nathan

NathanL: the comment is on that post. the commenter took the metaphor too literally

NathanL: really Bee??

BeeD: cannot open your mp3 file Rita

AaronPC: lol.....funny that person didn't leave his/her name.

NathanL: somebody in British Columbia by the IP address

RitaZ: uhhhhh, then there must be sth wrong, Bee, will have to upload it again

BeeD: got it

EmilyW: I am trying to come up with ideas for my blog

BeeD: it was just taking time to open

MichelleRS: Are any of you familiar with Blogger.com?

EmilyW: I use blogger

RitaZ: thanks, Bee

AaronPC: Emily....people write about whatever interests them....or....

RitaZ: it's just a trial

NathanL: I have a blogger blog, too, Michelle

BeeD: and where have you placed it Rita?

AaronPC: whatever they think their readers would like to read about.

FaithGst13: how often do you update your blog

RitaZ: in the template in my helpingblog at blogger.com

KristinW: me too, I use it for reflection of my teaching

BeeD: Or you can have your students post creative work

NathanL: I write mine to see what I think about stuff

MichelleRS: Do any of you use blogs as an educational experience for your students?

BeeD: like poems or descriptions

NathanL: until I write it down, I don't have a good handle on it

BeeD: Mine have just composed a poem on Friday

AaronPC: Oh yes!

EmilyW: I haven't updated mine in a month

KristinW: does anyone have any good lesson plans for using blogging?

RitaZ: just tried to see it in the "preview" form

EmilyW: I was out of topics to write about

DavidWe joined the room.

NathanL: I need to make a post about using metaphors and taking them too literally, I think :D

RitaZ hugs David

DavidWe waves

DavidWe hugs Rita

BeeD hugs DAvid

DavidWe hugs Bee

GrahamS: Hi David

DavidWe: Bonjour

MichelleRS: Which website do you like to use for posting blogs that you want your students to respond to?

BeeD: Rita...when you post the code to Blogger...you need to do it on the HTML page...is this the one you used?

RitaZ: is that the template, Bee?

BeeD: It all depends on where you want to post your sound file...

BeeD: either on the main page or in the post

AaronPC: Michelle, I try getting my students to write on their own blogs and read the blogs of others.

RitaZ: ah, that I don't know, I thought the template showed the html of the whole blog...

EvgeniaM: sorry I am on the phone, brb

GrahamS: uh-oh! Just seen that our wiki has been spammed!

SusanneN joined the room.

RitaZ: where else can I upload it, Bee? sorry about this

DavidWe: Hi, Sus

SusanneN: HI!!!

BeeD: Hello Susan

RitaZ hugs dear Sus

SaroltaG: Hello, Susan

SusanneN: I was not sure about the timing, dear Bloggers

AaronPC waves to Sus

GrahamS: Take a look Bee: http://www.opensource.idv.tw/wiki/index.php/Main_Page

BeeD: Michelle, my students have been posting their assignments for the time being

DavidWe steps outside

BeeD: For example: <http://sleepingbeauty02.blogspot.com/>

SusanneN hugs her dear friends

DavidWe left the room.

KristinW: do your students go to the computer lab? or do they all have computers at home?

GrahamS: I was just having a look, to suggest Kristin check it out for blog lesson ideas

KristinW: thanks

BeeD: Mine have computers at home and we have one hour at the computer lab once a week

KristinW: I know blogs help with free/creative writing for online journals..but I was wanting to try something different

RobertWB joined the room.

RobertWB: am I in the right place.

BeeD: I'll have to clean that Graham

AaronPC: Wow! pharmacy spam....yuck!

BeeD hugs Elderbob

NathanL joined the room.

AaronPC: Hey....Elderbob!

GrahamS: what kind of thing were you thinking of Kristin?

RitaZ: welcome, Elderbob

SaroltaG waves to Elderbob

RobertWB: Sorry to be so late, but Sunday afternoon, is sort of "do-list" time for me.

BeeD: See if you can log in Graham

BeeD: It does not accept me in anymore

KristinW: I don't know - I'm open for suggestions. I thought about interactive discussions on a certain topic - - but I was looking to incorporate blogging into some type of project

EvgeniaM: I am lost!!!! I was on the phone with my mother (me in Tucson, AZ and her in Athens, Greece) and I have to read all you people wrote !!!!

RobertWB: Is that message about Graham meant for me.

SusanneN: hi Bob, I'm a latecomer as well - trying to catch up

RobertWB: Hi Sus....so maybe I'm not as late as I thought

GrahamS: I've logged in, Bee

RitaZ: you are never late, friends...;-)

RobertWB: Hey Rita, thanks for the reminder.

BeeD: let me try again

AaronPC: Kristin, I think blogs can be ideal for sharing the process of a project.

RitaZ: welcome, Ebob

SusanneN: nah, well - some sessions are more strictly scheduled than others

KristinW: yeah, I'm learning about wiki's right now - - which is really neat

KristinW: I'm exciting to have my students do this next year

SusanneN: now we're looking at which site?

RobertWB: Oh Kristin, are you taking a class or just exploring on your own.

MichelleRS: Where do I go to find out about "Wikis"?

KristinW: exploring on my own

KristinW: but learning about it with a professor - - not class related

KristinW: www.wikipedia.com

KristinW: or .org

RobertWB: Well, keep in touch, I have added one to my website, and linked it from my blog/

RobertWB: and I think I can use it from Moodle too.

MichelleRS: Thanks. I heard about it from my Tech prof. but didn't get an address.

KristinW: very cool

RobertWB: Soooooo much to know...so little time.

KristinW: it's really neat

AaronPC: Michelle...you could start at the wikipedia entry for 'wiki':

AaronPC: <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/WikiWiki>

KristinW: I'm giving a presentation tomorrow and was hoping to go in there with some really awesome project idea about using blogs

AaronPC: Elderbob....what did you add to your website?

BeeD: Many of us have been using blogs with our students Kristin

BeeD: in different ways

BeeD: we share ideas

KristinW: can you give me some ideas Bee?

SaroltaG: How old are your students, Kirstin?

KristinW: 7th grade

KristinW: but my presentation is for teachers who teach 4-12th

SusanneN: Kristin, I'm involved in a nice little blog project, as the Mystery Guest to a university English class from Minsk in Belarus; they don't know me and they're asking me all sorts of brilliant questions in a blog

MichelleRS: The only time I have used blogged was when my prof posted a question that we were supposed to respond to. We researched the topic and presented a synopsis plus the reference in APA format. Does this help Kristin?

SusanneN: I know that Bee did this once, as well - and who else?

JessicaA joined the room.

KristinW: yes! - anything and everything helps:)

EvgeniaM: As I told you I am new here, but I have some things you might be interested in teaching . I am a teacher myself

KristinW: great..

BeeD: Yes Sus...it was a very nice experiment with Graham...in 2003

SusanneN: Michelle, you're welcome to have a look at www.goinupstream.blogspot.com

EvgeniaM: could I give you the site?

MichelleRS: Also, we could respond to other blogs. In fact, it is beneficial to respond to others findings.

JessicaA: does anyone know of a blog that talks about teaching special ed. english?

MichelleRS: Thanks Susanne!

EmilyW joined the room.

AaronPC steps out of the room quietly

EvgeniaM: Maybe if you look in my office you can find the sites

EmilyW is back

RobertWB: Aaron, my ISP offers a PHPWiki.

JessicaA: ok thanks

RobertWB: <http://www.elderbob.com/phpwiki/>

BeeD: You can have some ideas of how my students have been using the blogs in the past 2 years at

BeeD: <http://beeonline.blogspot.com>

KristinW: awesome - thank you so much!

BeeD: and <http://beeonline2.blogspot.com>

AaronPC returns

EmilyW: I am going to be adding resources about blogging and education in my office, not sure when, but it will be soon

BeeD: Anne Davis in Atlanta has been doing some fantastic work

GrahamS: I've cleaned up the wiki page

BeeD: Aaron...do you have Anne's address ?

BeeD: Thanks Graham

EvgeniaM left the room.

SusanneN: Yes, Anne Davis was an amazing example!

BeeD: And for all those news to blogging

AaronPC: Anne Davis: <http://anne.teachesme.com/>

SaroltaG: The page looks fine, Graham.

BeeD: I suggest you listen to some of the recorded presentations that can be found at

BeeD: <http://evo05.blogspot.com>

AaronPC: Thanks Elderbob...I just started using Moodle with a few of my classes and am looking for ways to incorporate its use with blogs and potentially wikis.

RobertWB: I can't get to that Anne.teachesme site.

AaronPC: It must be down right now.

BeeD: The wiki we opened for the workshop also leads you to interesting material

AaronPC: I am not accessing it either.

RobertWB: Aaron, I have had a moodle for a couple of years on my contract server.\

BeeD: http://www.opensource.idv.tw/wiki/index.php/Main_Page

SaroltaG: Elderbob, what are your plans for the Wiki?

RobertWB: I have an ISP that is kind enough to let me go into the control panel and noodle around.

EmilyW left the room.

RobertWB: So I have been playing with it for a while.

AaronPC: Nice

SaroltaG: Yeah.

RobertWB: There is still a lot about Moodle that I don't understand.

RobertWB: But I am getting there.

RitaZ: TechSoup is a good message board, have you tried it?

RobertWB: Bee that wiki for the blogging workshop, do you recall what Wiki was used.....

AaronPC: Yes...it seems flexible in its design. Looking forward to learning more.

RobertWB: They all seem to be pretty much parts of the same system.

BeeD: mediawiki Bob

RobertWB: Right...

RobertWB: I think that is a spin-off of MediaWiki.

BeeD: quite straightforward

SusanneN: I need to find out some more about videoblogging for a project. Will that be a coming discussion topic here in the salon?

BeeD: It is Media

BeeD: Wiki

RobertWB: I have been looking at some of the HTML that can be used, although it isn't technically called html

SaroltaG: Why did you choose MediaWiki and not some other Wiki?

BeeD: Well...a friend started it for me Sarolta

BeeD: and hosted it

BeeD: I found it easy to use

RobertWB: I like that one Bee, I thought it very simple to get around in, and easy to post into RitaZ: what's wrong with your listservs, Jessica?

RobertWB: Jessica, are you doing something University related for Listservs.

BeeD: You can find a lot of information on videoblogs here Susan

BeeD: <http://weblogs.about.com/od/podcastingaudioblogging/g/vlogsvidblogs.htm>

GrahamS: Here's the address of the new Yahoo360 blog I set up today:

<http://360.yahoo.com/bcgstanley>

JessicaA: yes it's something university related for class but I never am able to sign on and have to become a member all over again

AaronPC: Yeah...I think video blogging holds a lot of potential in a place like Japan, as it won't be long before all the mobile phones come standard with video cams.

GrahamS: Aaron, what about podcasting? Did you ever give that a whirl?

AaronPC: All my students carry mobile phones.

BeeD: So do mine

KristinW: mine too and they are in the 7th grade!!

SusanneN: there's a yahoogroup called videoblogging - they have been very very active this weekend; I joined a few days ago and lots of examples and tips

AaronPC: No. I will make a few stabs at it this year...time permitting.

MichelleRS: Your students are allowed to carry phones? How old are they?

GrahamS: I've started downloading podcasts, and I think there's a lot of potential there

BeeD: from 13 to 18

AaronPC: I am supposed to teach a content course on world music in the fall....so that might be a good opportunity.

BeeD: this sounds great Aaron

AaronPC: My students are 18 and 19 years old.

SusanneN: wow!

GrahamS: world music? Sounds great

MichelleRS: Your students are permitted phones in school?

AaronPC: Yes

BeeD: yes they are

SusanneN: world music, you'll certainly need media blogging

KristinW: yes, but they must be kept off during school

MichelleRS: How do you keep them from becoming distractions?

BeeD: they cannot use them in class

GrahamS: I can help you out with flamenco if you like

BeeD: samba

JessicaA: How do you keep your students from not using their phones to text message each other

AaronPC: Or....you can make them the centerpiece of class!

SusanneN: why would you need to avoid sms?

AaronPC: Encourage them to text message in the target language

BeeD: yes...this would be fun

SusanneN: we all sent small notes around when we went to school I guess

SusanneN: yes, I think that cell phones has a great language potential for easy communication!

GrahamS: Has anyone had any experience of SMS cheating in exams?

SusanneN: I've heard about this

SaroltaG: Haven't even heard of it.

BeeD: no...during exams they must leave them outside

RobertWB: One of the advantages of working with adults....when they start to text message, they have to get their reading glasses out to read the messages.

AaronPC: Happened recently in Korea...big stink in the news about it.

AaronPC: lol...they should make mobile phones with magnifying lenses.

RobertWB: I think if you structure your exams correctly, that shouldn't be too much of a problem....

JessicaA: maybe that will be next

GrahamS: the tell tale sign for me: they're either praying, or sending SMS

RobertWB: How fast can one teenage text chat anyway.

AaronPC: Encourage cooperation on exams...that way there is no need to cheat.

RobertWB: and how much money must it cost to sent a text message long enough to answer an open ended question.

AaronPC: Cooperation is how we solve real-world problems anyway, right?

SusanneN: but I did have an example, quite serious really, with a bachelor student who had copied pages from several sites online into her bachelor project, without giving any references; I was the controller, and her advisor had thought this was such a brilliant paper

AaronPC: Good question Elderbob....not sure about that.

RobertWB: Even at the Fiesta in San Antonio, two people at the table were talking to each other over the internet, because it was too noisy in the room....

KristinW: I totally agree - I love the idea of collaboration

SusanneN: she was not allowed to get to the oral exam, but was given another chance to rewrite her paper

BeeD: Really Susan? Incredible how they can get away with copying

SaroltaG: How do your students cooperate at exams, Aaron?

SusanneN: Bob - LOL!!

AaronPC: Let's make it a practice Kristin.

MichelleRS: Jessica, don't forget that we have to do some kind of article review!

KristinW: yes Aaron - -

AaronPC: Well...I don't give them any major tests for one.

SusanneN: I heard that there was noisy music in the background at your bistro Bob

JessicaA: thanks!! I will work on that now

KristinW: I like project based assessment better than exams

BeeD: ANNOUNCING the next two guest sessions: our guest speakers on May 1st will be Peter Ford and on June 5th Nathalie d' Arbeloff

KristinW: this way they can apply thier knowledge and skills

AaronPC: If I did, I would have them solve the problems in pairs or small groups, using English only.

GrahamS: me too, but I have to give exams

RobertWB: You know, I didn't even notice the music...there may have been, but there were so many conversations going on at once....

SusanneN: like in here?

KristinW: okay guys - great talking with you..I have to go!

GrahamS: lol

RobertWB: 20 folks at one table plus 5 laptops can make a lot of noise.

GrahamS: bye Kristin

SusanneN: I've noticed your announcement for my calendar Bee

BeeD: Thanks for coming Kristin

MichelleRS: bye all.

KristinW: bye!

AaronPC: Yes...there are many institutional requirements Graham. At my new place of work, all students must take final exams.

BeeD: Ciao Michelle

RobertWB: Bye Michell.

AaronPC: very traditional.

GrahamS: adios micelle

AaronPC: No cooperation possible either.

RobertWB: In my opinion...and I know I am out of the public school loop, but the goal of education should be exploration not recitation.

BeeD: We have the BAC at the end of the studies...which is quite a tough exam

RobertWB: so to have more than one person exploring a subject area, makes perfect sense to me.

AaronPC: That's right...exploring, playing, and sharing.

SaroltaG: Yes, I agree, Elderbob.

RobertWB: I know the need for standardized exams, but I am not yet convinced that inculcates a desire and love of learning.

RitaZ: and maybe assessment should be done all over the year, not with a final exam, everywhere

AaronPC: Emphasize a quality process over the attainment of pre-defined results.

BeeD: There is so little creative work at schools

RobertWB: I think assessment should be continuous, and should involve, self, peers, and instructors.

GrahamS: I agree

RitaZ: me too

SusanneN: I'm so happy that our exam system is not so controlling - the students can write from their own experiences and they have so many cool ideas in their long papers, and then they get time for individual presentations and conversations with their advisor and the external examiner (such as me)

BeeD: Denmark is a special place

RitaZ: great, Sus, your system

RobertWB: But the educational systems, at least in the states are no longer organized by teachers, instead by budget organizer, politicians and textbook writers.

AaronPC: Denmark!

SusanneN: I've got 13 of these papers for the coming week, most of these are group work

RobertWB: I think the teachers actually did a better job of it.

SusanneN waves hello from Denmark

RobertWB: I have often wondered if Webheads doesn't partially work well because there is an element of Peer review attached to it.

RobertWB: or maybe not review, maybe assessment is a better term

RitaZ waves hello...., from Argentina...., very different place...:-)

SusanneN: definitely agree with that point Bob

AaronPC: Is there a formal peer assessment procedure?

SusanneN: review and also peer mentoring

RobertWB: Do public school teachers get to do that kind of review anymore.

RobertWB: Oh yes, lots of mentoring.

RobertWB: I think there is a bit of peer assessment research being done Aaron..

RobertWB: Some of it is interesting.

RobertWB: I used to have a list of resources....if I can find it, I will share it in EVONline.

AaronPC: I'm all for peer assessment myself.....I find it very helpful.

AaronPC: thanks Elderbob.

SusanneN: Graham, now I saw your yahoo blog, interesting!

GrahamS: I'd love to hear more about how other teachers are using peer review

BeeD: My older students do self assessment and peer assessment on a presentation I video

BeeD: and record on a CD

BeeD: so that they can take it home

BeeD: watch their performance

SaroltaG: That sound great, Bee.

GrahamS: Yes, Suzanne - if you want to try one out, I can invite you (it's invite only at the moment, like gmail)

AaronPC: All my students do self assessment.

BeeD: and assess themselves according to rubrics

AaronPC: and peer assessment.

RitaZ: do you have the rubrics, Bee?

BeeD: http://members.tripod.com/the_english_dept/instructions1.html

AaronPC: I have 1st period classes this morning - must be leaving for work now.

AaronPC: thanks everyone for a very enjoyable chat.

AaronPC: It's a great way to start a Monday morning.

GrahamS: good to "see" you again Aaron

GrahamS: Have a great day

AaronPC: u2 graham

AaronPC: Bye!

SaroltaG waves goodbye.

BeeD: Have a great day

RitaZ: thank you, Bee

GrahamS: bye

SusanneN: Rita, I loved your story about the travel article!!

BeeD: Where can we read it?

RitaZ: thank you, Sus, so you speak Spanish!?

SusanneN: Did you know I'm going to visit Chrissan in Sweden next month?

BeeD: This is wonderful Sus

SaroltaG: I should be going to. Thanks for the chat. Hope to see you next week too.

SusanneN: I can read a little but not speak

RitaZ: it's in our Yahoo EVonline files, Bee

GrahamS: Bye Sarolta

BeeD: Ciao Sarolta...great to see you

SaroltaG: Goodnight to you all.

JeanMC: Bonsoir, bonne nuit, buenas noches, good night

BeeD: Bonne nuit Jean Michel

RitaZ: will have a look, Bee, a min

BeeD: Merci d' etre venu

JeanMC: mais je n'ai pas été tres sérieux!...

BeeD: ça arrive dans les meilleures familles

JeanMC: plusieurs fenetres ouvertes....et...

SusanneN: Rita - you remember we were social chatting on the fiesta day! And there I had the invitation from Chrissan, so when I had an opportunity to stop on my way back from a meeting (with Anne Fox and others) in Oslo, I decided to meet her

BeeD: je sais...je sais

SusanneN: mais alors monsieur Chaupart!

GrahamS: It's time for me to go too I'm afraid. Goodnight everyone!

JeanMC: bonne soirée et merci pour ta patience

RitaZ: http://groups.yahoo.com/group/evonline2002_webheads/files/

BeeD: Good to see you Graham...I had a look at your photos

BeeD: great!

RitaZ: bye, Graham

SusanneN: des travaux multiples!

JeanMC: effectivement madame Danemark

SusanneN: Labor multiple

RitaZ: Bee, it says "para La Capital, marzo 05

GrahamS: I had a look at yours too Bee - love the drinks and snacks! Bye!

BeeD: thanks Rita

SusanneN: Bye Graham!!

BeeD: I will read it later

SusanneN: and, bye all of you kind people

BeeD: Ciao Susan

SusanneN: mama need to go to bed!

RobertWB joined the room.

RitaZ: ok, Bee, I would need to know where to upload the sound file

BeeD: do you want it on your blog forever...or just in a post?

BeeD: I mean on the main page...or in a post

RitaZ: is it where it says "Add things to your sidebar here"?

BeeD: should work then

RitaZ: I want it in a posting

BeeD: if you want it in a posting

BeeD: then just click on create new post

RobertWB: Sus did you put the pic of Movie Marquee up in Learning Times this morning.

SusanneN: was checking this yahoo 360 beta blog...

BeeD: and choose the html option for editing

SusanneN: they have a waiting list!

RitaZ: ah, great, Bee, yes, if I want it on the sidebar, ?

SusanneN: yes Bob I did

RobertWB: Can you send me the URL and can I post it on the Fiesta blog.

SusanneN: certainly.

EmilyW: where is the yahoo blog?

RobertWB: Just backchannel it to me.

BeeD: it should work where you put it

RobertWB: The yahoo 360 blog is not online yet is it.

BeeD: unless the code is broken somewhere

RitaZ: ok, great, Bee, thanks

SusanneN: <http://360.yahoo.com/reg/whatis.html>

BeeD: try to post it in a normal post page

SusanneN: you can read their opening page

BeeD: which is easier than play with the template

BeeD: if it works...then you can transpose it

RitaZ: need to go, folks, thank you, Bee, and all, its been a good chat, as usual;-)

EmilyW: thanks

BeeD: ciao Rita

BeeD: have a wonderful week

RitaZ: you too

BJB2 goes to take the dog for a walk while it's still beautiful outside

BeeD: And mark May 1st and June 5th on your calendar

SusanneN: BJ!!! hugs to you and doggy!

BeeD: I have to be going as well...but feel free to continue the conversation

BeeD: See you all next week at the same bat-hour and bat-channel